

Quartz Inn Hotels announces its new associated hotel in Spain

A sustainable bubble hotel in the nature

Quartz Inn Hotels & Resorts

2 min read 20 February 2023

Miluna Open Nature Rooms — Photo by Quartz Inn Hotels & Resorts

Quartz Inn Hotels has announced the addition of the bubble hotel Miluna Open Nature Rooms to its portfolio of independent and sustainable hotels, thus expanding its presence in Spain with a total of 9 hotels.

Lidiia Tkachenko, Quartz Inn Hotels' co-founder said:

"It is a pleasure to welcome Miluna to our community of sustainable and independent hotels. Their constant commitment to the environment is admirable."

A sustainable hotel

Among the sustainable measures carried out in Miluna, several stands out, such as the different projects for reforestation and conservation of natural spaces, promotion of local activity (support for local producers and artisans), support for social projects and NGOs, and reduction of the carbon footprint, among others.

According to Alejandro Bosch, Miluna's co-founder:

"At Miluna we are committed to people and the planet. Our hotel is focused on health, sustainability, recycling, social action and care for the environment."

About Miluna

Founded in 2018 by Jacobo de Llanza, Alejandro Bosch and Víctor Messa and located in a secluded place in nature, 1 hour away from Madrid, in the province of Toledo. It comprises 8 "moon" rooms.

About Quartz Inn Hotels

Quartz Inn Hotels is the first European hotel collection formed by independent and sustainable hotels and properties. London based startup, founded in 2021 by Ignacio Merino, Lidia Tkachenko and Alexander Zawadzki.